Council Briefs

- Don't forget to leave feedback on Penrith City Library's draft Library Services Strategy! The strategy for 2023-2028 will help guide Council's decision-making on how to manage library programs and resources for the next five years. It includes identifying the potential to increase the number of library facilities available and opportunities to broaden the range of library programs and services offered.

There are multiple ways you can provide your feedback, which you can find at yoursaypenrith.com.au/library-strategy2023

- Join us for our Seniors Festival this week as we host a variety of great workshops and activities from a comedy gala that will have you in stitches, chair yoga, informative talks on aged care costs, how-tos on using the iPad, a great author talk and a cooking class. Most of the activities are free. Visit penrith.city/events to check out what we have in store and to book!
- Don't miss some of Australia's best First Nations hip hop talent at a free concert in Penrith at 6-10pm on Saturday, 18 February 2023 at The Joan Sutherland Performing Arts Centre.

Ngana Birrung (pronounced Nin-Gahna Bir-Rung, Dharug for 'Black Stars'), will showcase some of Australia's best First Nations hip hop musicians including headline act, JK-47, who will be joined by special guests A.GIRL and supported by Prodikal-1 and Keely.

Ngana Birrung is presented by City of Parramatta in association with Penrith City Council, Penrith Performing and Visual Arts and Campbelltown City Council. The event series is supported by the NSW Government through Create NSW.

Tickets are FREE – bookings are essential. Go to penrith.city/events/ngana-birrung to secure your ticket.
